Principal's Message

"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world" - Nelson Mandela who turns 93 years old today

Dear Parents

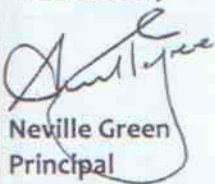

We return to school today on the very special occasion of Nelson Mandela's birthday and our good wishes and thoughts are with him as we take time to think of the huge, positive impact that he has made on so many people all over the world.

During the holidays there has been much building activity and not without some testing challenges! It has been very exciting seeing the new classrooms taking shape and I must commend BA Builders on their work ethic and commitment in ensuring that our pupils can move in to beautiful learning centres. The ongoing strikes have created delays but BA have risen to the challenge and gone the extra mile to deliver a quality service. The tennis court revamp has also had its share of challenges and work is still continuing on this facility this week.

We welcome back Mrs Terry Oliver after her accouchement leave and look forward to her continuing her valuable contribution to our school.

This term will, I am sure, be an exciting and rewarding one as we take on the second chapter of 2011!

Yours sincerely

Neville Green
